

Review

for educational professional program of the first (bachelor's) degree of higher education "Finance, Banking and Insurance"

The educational program "Finance, Banking and Insurance" of the first (bachelor's) degree of higher education was implemented in Lviv University of Trade and Economics. It regulates the content and organization of training process, characterizes the current resourcing of the bachelor's curriculum, as well as the environment of the educational institution, provides the development of social and personal competencies of graduate students, assessment tools for intermediate and final evaluation and programming results that ensure the quality of bachelor's training.

The strategic goal of the reviewed program is to train a professional able to solve complicated problems of innovation and research nature in the field of finance, banking, and insurance in the context of variability in the market-based arrangements. The program regulates the purpose, expected learning outcomes, conditions and technologies of the educational process, assessments of the training quality of graduates.

The program meets the basic requirements of the standards; its structure includes components of both the main and selective directions. Therefore, the subject areas of the curriculum create all the necessary list of social and professional competences.

The quality of content of the curriculum allows ensuring the competence for the graduates. The subjects included in curriculum reveal the essence of current professional problems within modern conditions. The student's research is organized in the bachelor's process preparing through the main educational forms, as well as lectures, seminars, trainings, internship, research papers, etc.

Taking into account the foreign contacts and international cooperation of Lviv University of Trade and Economics with European universities it is recommended to apply some professional courses in foreign language (English, Polish etc.) that will combine both language and communicational skills.

In addition the reviewed educational program “Finance, Banking and Insurance” for bachelor’s degree is a high quality program stated in Lviv University of Trade and Economics according to higher education standard. It is recommended to be applied for training in the specialty 072 “Finance, Banking and Insurance”.

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Paul D'Anieri". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the end.

Paul D'Anieri

Professor of Public Policy and Political Science,
Political Science department
University of California, Riverside, USA